

Press Release

For Immediate Release:
Tuesday, November 1, 2005

For Further Information, Contact:
Carol S. Johnson, Atlanta Business League (404) 584-8126

GEORGE C. FRASER, FRASERNET CEO, TALKS SMALL BUSINESS AT ATLANTA BUSINESS LEAGUE ANNUAL MEETING

Atlanta, GA. – George Fraser headlines the Annual Meeting of the Atlanta Business League on Tuesday, November 15, 5:30 - 7:30 pm at the Atlanta Marriott Marquis. The League's Annual Meeting closes out the 2005 program year with Alice Tolbert Wiggins as Chair.

New officers of the board and directors at large will be elected for 2006 and Wiggins will present a year-end review of her administration. The ABL Partners in Economic Development will be recognized for their commitment to the agenda of the organization. The Partners include AGL Resources, AirTran Airways, Atlanta Journal-Constitution, Atlanta Life Financial Group, Atlanta Marriott Marquis, Bank of America, Citizens Trust Bank, Coca-Cola Company, GE Consumer Finance, Georgia-Pacific, Georgia Power, Hartsfield-Jackson International Airport, Publix, Troutman Sanders LLP, and United Parcel Service

Ed Baker grew up in Atlanta and has been Publisher of Atlanta Business Chronicle for the past 17 years. In addition to his local responsibilities, Ed is Vice President/Director of Corporate Marketing of American City Business Journals, the corporate parent of the Chronicle and 41 other weekly business journals in major markets around the country. Sponsors include the US Department of Commerce, Minority Business Development Agency.

Founded in 1933, the Atlanta Business League fosters the growth, creation and development of successful business enterprises owned, operated and managed by African-Americans in metropolitan Atlanta.

For more information about attending the Annual Meeting, contact the League office at 404.584-8126, or visit the website at www.theabl.org.
